

ICL Highlights

- Mobile-friendly Simple Search
Flexible Advanced Search
Keyword or Phrase, Authors, Subjects, Titles, ID numbers
- Logical guided workflow
Use easy pull-down menus
Build and save search history
Hold and collect selected citations
- Useful display features
Choice of citation or abstract view
Links to full text in abstract view, if article is online
- Many options for output
Print or e-mail citations
Export citations in PubMed format
Click on links to full text
- Custom My ICL account
Login to save searches, collect citations, and set up alerts

Links to more databases and Web resources

Index to Chiropractic Literature

My ICL Sign In

Helping chiropractic clinicians, educators, students and researchers find the literature they need, since 1979

Wednesday, November 26, 2014

Home Help About Us ICL Journals Open Access Library More Resources Contact Us ChiroSearch My ICL

ICL Home Select Language

Enclose phrases "in quotation marks". More search tips.

Author Index | Subject Index

Search fields: AND, AND, Journal, Year, Peer Review, Publication Type

Buttons: Search, Clear, Switch To Simple Search

Search Results | Search History | Held Citations

Table header: Set Name, Description, Articles, Date

Search Tips / My ICL

~ Search Tips Printable View ~

~ Simple Search ~

* On smartphones, ICL works best in landscape mode!

* Type words in the search box to do a Google-type search. The Boolean operator AND automatically connects the terms. Example: the search neck pain Côté retrieves articles on neck pain by author Côté.

* Use quotation marks to retrieve phrases. Examples: "low back pain", "future of chiropractic"

* Use an asterisk (wildcard) to retrieve all forms of a word (also called truncation). Example: chiropract* retrieves chiropractic, chiropractor,

Links to available full text

Flexible and powerful search features

~ Search tips

~ Simple search for smartphones

My ICL collect citations save search history set up alerts

Keep current with ICL
Facebook
LinkedIn
Twitter

More than an index...
www.chiroindex.org is a gateway

Explore the Menus

How can I keep up with ICL?

Connect with ICL social media.

Register for free account at My ICL,
and set up e-mail alerts

Who in the world uses ICL?

View the Site Meter on the home page.

Can I browse current issues?

Go to ICL Journals/Browse Recent Issues, and subscribe to RSS feeds.

Where are the free resources?

Open Access Library lists more databases, full text online journals, online magazines, patient handouts, electronic books, and free articles.

More Resources links to practice guidelines, a directory of organizations, health Web sites, and more.

How can I publish an interesting case report?

More Resources/Getting Published links to expert advice.

Where can I send comments or questions?

E-mail ICL privately through the Contact Us form.

Some journal articles are free online,
but many require a subscription

Get the Full text Here's how ...

Consider subscribing to print or online journals. Subscriptions for individuals are reasonably priced.

or

Contact a library, at your alma mater, or in your local region. See About Us/CLC Member Libraries

Each library sets its own fees for document delivery.

Additional copyright fees may apply. Ask your librarian for details.

or

Order online articles from the publisher. Some publishers of online journals do not permit libraries to deliver electronic documents such as PDF files.

Developed by
Chiropractic Library Collaboration (CLC)

Funded by
CLC member libraries
Association of Chiropractic Colleges

Revised December 2014

Index to Chiropractic Literature

*Helping chiropractic clinicians, educators, students and researchers find the literature
they need, since 1979*

www.chiroindex.org

Your gateway to chiropractic literature and quality health resources

- Index of articles in the peer-reviewed chiropractic journals
- My ICL account for saving citations, search strategies, and e-mail alert settings
- Links to Web resources about health and practice management
- No registration or payment required

